BLAME CLOAK ROOM GIRL IN DETROIT FIRE

Nineteen Dead; More Believed Dying in Night Club Disaster

Detroit, Sept. 21.—(AP)—The death list in the fire which early Friday swept the Study Club, a Detroit cabaret, was increased to 20 this morning.

The latest death was that of Mrs. Helen Snyder, wife of Stuart Alfred Snyder of Montreal. She died at receiving hospital.

The body of the remaining unidentified victim of the fire was definitely identified shortly after noon today as that of Alan Klein, 31, vice president of the Goldsmith Publishing Co. of Cleveland.

The identification was made by John Pattee, of the book department of Crowley, Milner & Co., downtown Detroit department store.

The body of a woman in the county morgue was identified shortly before noon as that of Miss Mable Ireland of Saginaw, Mich.

Klein is known to have been in Detroit on business Thursday and to have been a friend of Miss Ireland.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 21.—(AP)—The death list in the fire which early Friday swept the Study Club, popular Detroit cabaret, mounted to 19 today with doubts being expressed for the recovery of 13 of the 37 injured still remaining in hospitals.

One of the injured, Roland Lowe, of Detroit, died early today. Eight of the injured have been discharged, while a majority of the others are reported in a "temporarily serious condition."

Investigation of the fire today broadened to include four city departments in its scope.

While Henry J. Garvin, a detective inspector, tentatively placed the blame for the tragedy on the cloak room girl who is said to have opened the front door when the flames were first discovered on the first floor of the club, County Prosecutor James Chenot announced that his office not only would seek to place criminal responsibility for the fire but would hold to account as well, the authorities who permitted the place to operate.

No Fire Escape
Prosecutor Chenot said that Marjorie Cohn, owner of the club, who is being held pending the investigation, admitted he recently had been ordered to install a fire escape to replace an old one which had been torn down. Cohn also admitted, the prosecutor asserted, there were no signs pointing to exits.

No date has been set for the inquest into the deaths of the 19. Meanwhile, two of the victims, one a man and the other a woman, today remained unidentified. Sixteen of the 19, eleven men and eight women, were trampled and suffocated to death in the press of mad humanity, which a moment before the fire ate rapidly up a stairway, had been a gay crowd of dancers. The other three died later in hospitals. It is believed that some of the 37 injured may die.

Open Door Made Draft
As inspector Garvin reconstructed the scene from his investigation, the fire started as only a small spark in the draperies of a hallway which was the club's public entrance. Excited, the cloak room girl opened the front door, he said, and the flames shot up the stairs in front of the draft from the open door.

Chicago Up Against Financial Deficit

Chicago, Sept. 21.—(UP)—The city of Chicago, faced with a corporate fund deficit of more than $12,500,000 for 1929, today was in the same financial muddle Cook county found itself in a few days ago and drastic steps in personnel of municipal agencies were discussed as possibilities.

Members of the city council finance committee indicated a 32 per cent slash in departmental costs, involving the discharge of 2,000 policemen and 800 firemen, might be the only recourse unless a solution is found before January 1.

Four thousand county employees were still awaiting pay due Sept. 15. The county board has found no solution of its problem.

The city's plight was due to the 1928 tax reassessment, it was explained. Municipal revenues were reduced when nearly $500,000,000 of valuations were shifted outside the city limits to county towns. To eliminate its deficit and stay within the budget, Chicago must spend $18,656,460 less in 1929, members of the finance committee said.

INDICT WRONG WOMAN

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 21.—(AP)—Indictment for manslaughter against the wrong Mrs. William Oswald was held today by the state's attorney following discovery of the error in names.

The writ was meant to be returned against Mrs. Lucy Oswald, but the grand jury entered the name of Mrs. Pauline Oswald in the indictment. Mrs. Lucy Oswald was held responsible for the death of Harry Gregory in an automobile collision.

MYSTERY SHIP HAS NAVAL MEN OF ALL NATIONS WORRIED

Germans Have New Warship; High Speed; Wide Cruising Radius

BY JAMES L. WEST
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Germany's new mystery warship—a 10,000-ton craft mounting six 11-inch guns and capable of a wide cruising radius at high speed—seems destined to play an important part in any future naval limitation conference that deals with capital fighting ships.

In the judgment of some American naval officers this would be especially so if there should be a move in 1936 to abolish all battleships as has been suggested unofficially in recent months.

With Germany possessing six ships of the characteristics of the one now completed, it is argued in naval circles that the other sea powers would be unable to do away with their own capital ship fleets with changes in the present agreement.

Under the terms of the Treaty of Versailles, Germany is permitted to build six ships of 10,000 standard tons, or about 12,500 tons displacement, without limitation as to the size of their guns.

While comparatively little is known about the new German craft by the other navies, it is the German claim that its new design is entirely practical. If such is the case, it has made a big advance in warship design and one that may make the nations a factor in future capital ship limitation conferences.

SINCLAIR MUST SERVE SENTENCE HOOVER DECIDES

Washington, Sept. 21.—(AP)—President Hoover will not commute the sentence of Harry F. Sinclair or Henry Mason Day, who are serving terms in the District of Columbia jail for contempt of court arising from the shadowing of the Fall-Sinclair jury.

This was announced today at the White House, where it was said Mr. Hoover would follow the recommendation of Attorney General Mitchell that the chief executive not interfere.

The application of Sinclair and Day were received from the Department of Justice last night, with this recommendation attached.

REFUSE PRINCETON BUS LINE

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 21.—(UP)—The Illinois Commerce Commission disallowed an application of the Airport Motor Coach Company for a permit to operate between Princeton, Wisnet, and Bradford Camp Grove, Lawn Ridge Edlestein and Peoria.

HOLD ENGLISHMEN AFTER FINANCIAL CRASH HITS MANY

Forty Million Dollar Market Loss Follows Collapse in Britain

BY HENRY RUSSELL
United Press Staff Correspondent

London, Sept. 21.—(UP)—The hearing of Clarence Charles Hatry and his three associates in connection with the most sensational financial collapse seen in Great Britain in a generation was remanded in Old Guildhall police court today until next Friday.

The four promoters and financiers, who were arraigned after the collapse of the so-called Hatry group of corporations with an estimated market loss of $40,000,000 within four days, were formally charged with conspiracy to obtain money under false pretenses.

Hatry's three associates who were arraigned at the same time were Edward Daniels, 31; Albert Eddard Taylor, 36, and John Graham Dixon, 37. Hatry gave his age as 40.

The magistrate refused to grant the defendants bail in spite of the pleas of their attorneys. The charge stipulated that Hatry and his associates conspired between July 1 and September 20th, 1929, to obtain and had obtained 209,141 pounds, approximately $1,045,000, under false pretenses from George Ireland Russell who is acting on behalf of the Portchester Trust, Ltd.

The scene of the arraignment was formal and imposing. The small courtroom was packed to capacity and hundreds waited outside. Police were called out to preserve order outside the courthouse.

The public prosecutor, Sir Archibald Bodkin, attended the hearing. Hatry, wife of the financial wizard, and his three associates in London, were in the court room. Magistrate Alderman Sir George Truskott presided.

It was A. K. Morgan, the prosecuting attorney, told the court the information indicated that other and more serious charges were forthcoming and announced at the same time that an investigation into the activities of Hatry and his associates would be begun soon.

He said that the case be remanded to enable the investigators to complete their work and to enable the investigation to support the joint and individual statements made by the defendants in allegedly confessing to the facts and admitting full responsibility.

Amboy Football Team Start Season With A Bang; Beats La Moille

Coach James Dominetta's Amboy township high school team completely swamped the LaMoille high school eleven in the opening game of the football season on the Amboy field yesterday afternoon and piled up a score of 40 to 0. Playing a hard driving offensive game from the starting whistle, the Amboy gridders swept over LaMoille's goal line for a touchdown in the first two minutes of play. W. Shippert was the main attraction of the afternoon, completing numerous long runs behind perfect interference which was led by Ottenheimer. For LaMoille, Simpkins and Fick were outstanding performers.

Shippert scored four of the touchdowns for Amboy. Hicks and Ottenheimer scoring one apiece. Milt Vaughan of Dixon refereed the contest with Antoine of Amboy umpiring.

Soviet Plane Makes Progress Toward U.S.

Attu, Aleutian Islands, Sept. 21.—(UP)—The Russian airplane Land of the Soviets, enroute from Moscow to the United States by way of Siberia and Alaska, touched American territory for the first time when it landed here at 11:10 P. M. EST, Friday.

The plane, carrying four Soviet fliers flew here from Petropavlovsk, Kamchatka, where it had been delayed two days by unfavorable weather. The flight here, a distance of approximately 800 miles was completed in six hours and 50 minutes. The fliers now have completed nearly 7,000 miles of their journey, most of which has been flown in face of heavy meteorological odds.

From here, Chief Pilot Shestakov expects to pilot the Land of the Soviets toward Dutch Harbor, Unalaska Island, thence along the line of the Eastern Island group to Alaska and the United States.

Lee County Man Wins Honors At Shoot Of Illinois Town Guards

P. L. Lazier of the Lee County delegation of town guards attending the Springfield shoot brought honors to the local organization by tying for high place in the shot-gun contest. Lazier tied with a Princeton shooter, each of them breaking 46 clay birds out of 50. In the shoot-off Lazier broke 23 out of 25, to his opponents 23.

Lazier was accompanied by Henry Chacon of Compton and Millard Fell of Seward.

GAME WARDEN IN STATEMENT SAYS HE HAD NO GUN

Fred Hensal Quoted as Saying He Made No Assault With Weapon

State Game Warden Fred Hensal of Mt. Carroll in a statement printed in the Mt. Carroll Mirror-Democrat, denies that he possessed a revolver on the morning of August 25, when he accosted I. B. Hofer of this city at Green River. The statement followed Hensal's indictment by the grand jury this week on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon and is as follows:

Mr. Hensal tells a different story. He claims that the fisherman, who he says is a Dixon dentist, did not have a license with him, but did have one at home as he found later, but the law says one must have his license with him. This man became belligerent, refused to show his catch of fish, when Warden Hensal asked to see them, saying they couldn't search him. Mr. Hensal says he did not even have a gun with him but seized the man by the collar and told the man he was under arrest. Another fisherman started toward Hensal when Poffenberger and Meyers jumped out of their car, where they had remained while Fred made his investigation, and came to his assistance. If there was any assault with a deadly weapon, Hensal says, it was not made by him as the most deadly weapon he had were his fists and he didn't use them. He says that he never claimed that one of his fists was "death and destruction" and the other, "hell and damnation," as some fellows do, so there is no deadly weapon about the fists.

Regarding Search Warrant.

Commenting further, the Mirror-Democrat states that the warden says that if they have a warrant, search a man without a warrant, then there is no use in having warrants, as before a warrant could be secured, a fisherman along a creek or river could get rid of all incriminating evidence.

This very question, that of making arrests of any kind without a warrant is before the Supreme court at this time. In the past police, sheriffs and other peace officers made arrests when a man was caught in an unlawful act, without a warrant, and if they haven't this right, then a murderer, a hold-up man, a thief, could get away before a warrant could be secured.

OLD PUMP HOUSE IN NELSON YARD BURNS IN NIGHT

Sterling Fire Department Called To Save Coal Chutes

The abandoned pumping station in the east NorthWestern railroad yards at Nelson was totally destroyed by fire this morning about 1 o'clock. With the discovery of the blaze in the old frame building, first reports indicated that the coal chutes were burning and the Sterling fire department was summoned.

The fire was believed to have started from an overheated stove in the building where several tramps were reported to have been spending the night. The flames spread rapidly in the old oil soaked lumber and the fire burned fiercely. The heat from the flames destroyed the telegraph line system which was north of the old structure, but linemen were called and made temporary repairs. The building is just north of the east-bound main line tracks and trains had to be dispatched over other tracks until the flames burned out.

The coal chutes and several other buildings would have been in danger had a wind swept from the east, but a mild wind kept these structures undamaged. The old pumping station was built over a 25-foot well which has been in service in the east Nelson yards for several years and was considered one of the best water supplies on the Galena division. While the pumping station had been abandoned for some time and much of the machinery removed, the well was still in use, water being pumped from a modern station a short distance away.

WOULD AVOID WAR?

Moscow, Sept. 21.—(UP)—Alexis Rykov, premier of the Soviet Union in an address today to the Congress of Moscow Soviets, said:

"We will not begin military action against China as long as there is a single chance to solve the conflict amicably."

He added, however, that Soviet acceptance of the Chinese terms for holding a peace conference are impossible because it would mean Soviet capitulation.

THREE KILLED; MORE INJURED IN MEX RIOTS

Mexico City, Sept. 21.—(AP)—The first serious trouble in connection with the national presidential election to be held in November occurred here last night when three men were killed, another probably fatally wounded and three less seriously wounded in fighting between supporters of Jose Vasconcelos and Pascual Ortiz Rubio, presidential candidates.

The clash occurred at the Avenida Hidalgo and Dan Fernando Park, two blocks from the office of El Universal, a newspaper which has been the center of political controversy during the last few days. Order was restored after police reserves quelled the disturbance. President Portes Gil personally intervened to stop the disorders.

Parading supporters of Vasconcelos encountered Rubio enthusiasts. A shot was fired and the trouble grew to proportions of a riot. The Vasconcelistas invaded a moving picture house where they barricaded themselves until the police arrived.

TEN INCH MAIN TO NORTH SIDE NOW COMPLETED

Tests Of New Water Main are Satisfactory, Company Says

The new ten-inch main supplying water to north side residents was completed yesterday afternoon and passed through the formal tests. Under 140 pound air and meter test over a period of 15 hours, less than one cubic foot of water was lost. Contractor Gil Falcon completed his work at noon yesterday and the new ten-inch main was connected up for its initial test, which according to the Dixon Water Company officials was highly satisfactory.

The laying of the new ten-inch main completes an improvement which has been under consideration by the Water Company officers for the past ten years and represents an expenditure of approximately $15,000. The main is now connected on both sides of the river and next spring, the Water Company will extend the service to Everett street. Col. C. M. Waters of Sterling of the war department office, will conduct a general inspection of the new improvement Monday.

Contractor Gil Falcon will start work at once, making a thorough inspection of the old eight-inch main which has served north side residents for the past 40 years and will make such repairs as are found necessary.

CIVIL WAR BREAKS OUT IN CHINA AS RUSSIA THREATENS

Manchurians Apparently Believe Soviet Attack Is Sure To Come

BY RANDALL GOULD
United Press Staff Correspondent

Shanghai, Sept. 21.—(UP)—A new civil war has broken out in China. Despite the belief that the current controversy between Nanking and Moscow would unite the Chinese in a common cause, the political antagonism which have existed in China since the revolution flared up afresh.

General Chang Fat-Kuei's fourth division, known as the "Ironsides" clashed with troops of the national government in western Hupeh.

The national government immediately sent an order dismissing General Chang from service for moving his troops without authority.

The "Ironsides" division, apparently, was being moved cross country from Ichang for the possible purpose of reaching the Peiping-Hankow railway, a strategic position.

It was understood General Chang intended to form a junction with the armies of Marshal Feng Hu-Hsiang, the so-called "Christian General."

Latest reports reaching here said Marshal Feng who had promised General Chiang K'ai-shek, head of the national government, to leave China had broken his promise.

WAR INEVITABLE?
Mukden, Manchuria, Sept. 21.—(UP)—Gen. Chang Hsueh-Liang, military governor of Manchuria, addressed a conference of his 58 generals this afternoon and instructed them in their duties during the crisis with Russia, an official communique said.

Soviet airplanes renewed reconnaissance flights over the border today.

Moscow, Sept. 21.—(UP)—Alexis Rykov, premier of the Soviet Union in an address today to the Congress of Moscow Soviets, said:

NO BACK SEAT DRIVER.

Mrs. Lindbergh occupied herself writing letters. Col. Lindbergh's landings and take-offs are so smooth that she has been able to write without interruption at any time she wishes. Mrs. Lindbergh is no "back seat" driver. She only smiled on landing in the dusk at Santiago last night, when Lindbergh turned sharply at the end of the runway to avoid knocking a Cuban soldier off his horse.

Despite his reputation for courtiness, Col. Lindbergh has been a most agreeable pilot. He circles scenic spots for the benefit of the camera man and talks freely.

His chief concern has been sparing Mrs. Lindbergh from annoyance by the crowds at landing spots. Yesterday he asked the photographers not to molest her when she had her hands full of flowers. Lindbergh commented that they would soon need a trailer for the numerous bouquets stacked on the overhead racks of the plane.

The trip across the windward passage was made in splendid weather. The fleecy white clouds were set off against a turquoise blue sea. We flew at a altitude of about 2,500 feet and made 110 miles an hour.

LINDBERGH IS IN DOMINICAN CAPITAL NOW

Reached Santo Domingo After Easy Trip From Santiago

Santo Domingo (By Pan-American Radio to Miami), Sept. 21.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh landed here at 12:17 P. M., concluding a 165 mile flight from Port Au Prince.

Aboard Col. Lindbergh's Plane. En Route to South America. (By Pan-American Radio to Miami).—(AP)—Sept. 21, Col. Charles Lindbergh left Port Au Prince, Haiti, at 10:35 A. M. for Santo Domingo, capital city of the Dominican Republic, the fifth stop on his 7,000 mile journey.

Port Au Prince, Haiti, Sept. 21.—(AP)—(By Pan American Radio to Miami).—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, flying to South America, landed at Port Au Prince, the capital of Haiti at 9:30 o'clock this morning after taking off from Santiago, De Cuba, at 6:56 A. M.

The Colonel, who is accompanied by his wife, covered the 270 miles in 2 hours and 34 minutes, cutting 36 minutes from the time he had estimated it would take him. He planned to leave for Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, after an hour's stop.

The Colonel thus far has covered 1,300 miles of his 7,000-mile tour.

Aboard Colonel Lindbergh's Plane Enroute to Port Au Prince, Sept. 21.—(By radio to Miami).—We are heading over mountainous country this morning after leaving Santiago De Cuba at 6:56 o'clock for Port Au Prince, the first stop on the second day of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's 7,000 mile flight to South America and the Caribbean Sea. The weather is clear.

At 7:45 A. M. we passed over Guantanamo Bay at 2,500 feet, leaving the Cuban Coast and heading southeast over the sea toward Port Au Prince, deviating somewhat from the regular route. We should reach Port Au Prince, first stop the second day, about 10 A. M. visibility hazy over the water but is clearing with rising sun. Colonel Lindbergh and Mrs. Lindbergh seem much refreshed after a good night's sleep.

Mrs. Lindbergh is dressed in a blue silk traveling dress. She wrote busily in her diary and studied a map of the route as the ship sailed along. She has little to say except that she is having a "wonderful time" and Lindbergh requested she not be interviewed. We encountered head winds over the sea, but they gave us no trouble.

Aboard Lindbergh Plane, Sept. 21.—(UP)—We soared across the beautiful Windward passage between Cuba and Haiti today, flying high above fleecy clouds.

After leaving Santiago De Cuba this morning for Port Au Prince, a distance of about 200 miles, we skirted high mountains along the Caribbean shore and passed out to sea over Guantanamo Bay.

G. W. Angus, the radio operator, changed his wave-length over Guantanamo Bay and tried to raise the U. S. Navy base there, but was unsuccessful.

IN COUNTY COURT

A jury in the county court today was listening to considerable testimony in the conservatorship of Joseph Wilson, who resides east of the city. The jury has been called into court on four different occasions, when continuances have been taken, the conservatorship being strongly contested.

IMPROVE RIVER ROAD

Highway Commissioner James Penny and his force of workmen have completed a much needed improvement on the River road in Dixon on township west of the city. The road had become "wash-boarded" and was almost impassable. It has been scarified, rolled and resurfaced and is in excellent condition again. The stretch of road in Palmyra township has also been in bad condition for several weeks.

FUNERAL IN FRANKLIN

The funeral of the late George G. Stewart, former resident of Franklin Grove, who passed away Thursday noon in a Chicago hospital, will be held Sunday. Services will be conducted from the Methodist church in Franklin Grove at 2 o'clock with interment in the Franklin Grove cemetery.

BRING PRISONER HERE

Sheriff Ward Miller returned home last evening from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, with Jack Vicks, alias M. Cunningham, negro, who is alleged to have forged a check in this city recently for the sum of $75 drawn on a Madison Wis. bank. The negro refused to return to Dixon without extradition papers the first of the week, but when Sheriff Miller arrived in Cedar Rapids yesterday with his papers on his way to Des Moines, Vicks was glad to return without contesting his removal from Iowa into Illinois.

REYNOLDS TEAM PLAYS

The Rockford Eagles, the fastest semi-pro baseball team in Rockford, will oppose the Reynolds Wire Company team at Reynolds field Sunday afternoon. Kemping who recently joined the wire makers' pitching staff will twirl for the locals with Steve Skelton catching. Schaute and Pellant will form the battery for the Eagles. The game will be called promptly at 2:30.

BOWLED IN BELOIT

The Dixon Pastime bowling team, composed of F. Cleary, E. Worley, F. Shawager, Ned Giononi and J. Smith motored to Beloit last evening, where they met a team captained by Clifford Reisinger, formerly of this city. The Dixon team edged out their rivals by a score of 2,586 to 2,581. Worley rolled a 247 game for high game of the evening and was also high for the series with a total of 621 pins. The Freeman Specials team, captained by Reisinger, will roll a return match on the Pastime alleys next Saturday evening.

TO PLAY IN POLO

The Dixon Independents will go to Polo Sunday to engage the U. S. Royals of that city in the closing game of the season for the Polo team. Petty and Weeks will form the battery for the Independents and Burns and Clark will appear for the Royals.

FOOT BALL PRACTICE.

Candidates for the Dixon Independent football team will report for "skull" practice Sunday morning at 9 o'clock at the Independent Field on Eighth street and Van Buren avenue. Coach Six expects to have about 35 candidates on hand for the initial practice session tomorrow.

ARMY BLIMP IS LOST FOR TIME IN MINNESOTA

Fort Snelling Minn., Sept. 21.—(AP)—The army blimp TC-71 arrived here shortly after 10 A. M. today from Scott Field, Ill., to participate in military maneuvers.

The 200 foot aircraft, which left its Illinois base at 7:15 last night was scheduled to reach here about 7 o'clock this morning but swung far off its course in the darkness of the night and for a time was lost in a fog over Duluth, 150 miles north of here.

Observers at Duluth reported the craft headed southward at 5:30 A. M. today

What baffles authorities and leads them to believe that her death was the result of foul play is that her body was found on a spot every inch of which, it was believed, had been covered by searching parties. The body was clothed in brown overalls, although Miss Wolfskill was wearing old-fashioned ankle-length dresses when she disappeared.

A new development was expected today when handwriting experts complete deciphering a note found in a pocket of the overalls. The only words discernible were "the," "not," and "fooling." First examination led authorities to believe it was the handwriting of Miss Wolfskill.

Sheriff Thornton is having a farmer watched who wore overalls similar to those found on the woman.

Another discovery that puzzled authorities was that around Miss Wolfskill's waist was wound a portion of a man's undergarment.

So decomposed was the body that an autopsy failed to reveal the cause of death.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Robert E. Burns, war veteran, successful magazine publisher and Georgia chain gang convict, today stood formally accused of bigamy.

Burns' second wife, formerly Miss Emily Del Pino, filed the charge and authorities said they would question his first wife, Jean McDonald, whom Burns married in 1923.

Burns was sentenced to six years on the chain gang for a small theft in Atlanta, but escaped after several months and came to Chicago. He rose quickly from laboring in the stockyards to publishing a profitable real estate magazine, before his whereabouts was revealed to Georgia authorities. He was returned to serve the rest of his sentence.

"MAD HEIRESS'S" DEATH MYSTERY STILL UNSOLVED

Her Fortune Available For Use In Hunt For Solution Of Death

Fairfield, Calif., Sept. 21.—(UP)—Her own fortune of nearly $1,000,000 and the financial resources of a relative were placed at the disposal of authorities to clear up the mystery surrounding the death of Irene Wolfskill, 37, self-styled "Empress of the World," whose body was found in Woodson Valley Creek Thursday.

Matt and New Wolfskill, brothers of the "Mad Heiress," are here from Los Angeles and were to be questioned today by Sheriff Jack Thornton, in an attempt to solve the mystery of her death. Both brothers are heirs to their sister's estate.

"Every indication points to the murder theory," New Wolfskill said, "we will co-operate in every way possible to clear up this matter. Our own resources will be used."

W. Bachman, trust officer of the Citizens and Trust Savings Bank of Los Angeles, sent a wire to Sheriff Thornton "to spare no money in clearing up the case." The bank held Miss Wolfskill's fortune in trust.

Police and private detectives, employed by the Los Angeles bank, are working on two theories. One is that the woman was murdered and her body taken to the spot where she was found after searching parties left the vicinity. The other is that she wandered through the hills "of her domain" in a demented state and fell exhausted in the creek bed, where she died.

Miss Wolfskill, who was heiress to nearly $1,000,000 disappeared from her palatial ranch home in Solano County in July. A $5,000 reward offered for her recovery by the bank created widespread interest. More than 500 persons joined in the search for the eccentric daughter of one of California's well known pioneers.

Spot Had Been Hunted. What baffles authorities and leads them to believe that her death was the result of foul play is that her body was found on a spot every inch of which, it was believed, had been covered by searching parties. The body was clothed in brown overalls, although Miss Wolfskill was wearing old-fashioned ankle-length dresses when she disappeared.

A new development was expected today when handwriting experts complete deciphering a note found in a pocket of the overalls. The only words discernible were "the," "not," and "fooling." First examination led authorities to believe it was the handwriting of Miss Wolfskill.

Cut in slices and serve with cream or hard sauce.

Methodist W. H. M. S. In First Meeting

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the M. E. church held its first meeting of the new year with Mrs. H. F. Ware, on Thursday afternoon, with our new president, Mrs. H. D. Bills presiding.

The meeting was opened with the singing of "America." As this was a temperance meeting Mrs. Clara Rowe read from the revised version portions of Romans 6 and Ephesians 6, for the devotionals. She then gave a very interesting talk on cigarette smoking among the young, and law enforcement, after which she led in prayer.

Miss Flora Seals read a letter from the conference officers urging all to put forth every effort to meet the four goals for 1929-1930: (1) Membership; (2) Evangelism; (3) Education; and (4) Stewardship.

Several clippings were read by different ones along the line of temperance. Miss Calla Morgan read a leaflet entitled Rozannia; and Miss Seals read one telling how the women of one town at election time defeated "John Barleycorn's Bootlegger Twin." Mrs. Winnebrenner who had charge of the program called for the Home Mission Enigmas.

All joined in singing "Onward Christian Soldiers" and the meeting was closed by all repeating the Lord's Prayer.

Dainty refreshments were served by the committee in charge. Twenty-eight were present.

Home Bureau Meeting in Amboy Wed.

All Home Bureau members and their friends will be well repaid if they attend the meeting on Wednesday, Sept. 25 at Amboy.

Mary Louise Chase, assistant state leader of home economics extension will be the speaker of the afternoon meeting. This will be Miss Chase's first visit to Lee County and she should be met by a large group of ladies from the various communities.

The picnic dinner will be served at 12 noon in the Amboy Commercial club rooms, and will be followed by the home bureau meeting.

The organization comes nearer to its membership goal, enthusiasm is increasing. Everyone is asked to boost for home bureau and attend the meeting Sept. 25.

Governor's Mansion Taxed to Hold Gifts

Plainville, Conn., Sept. 19.—(UP)—Big as it is, the Governor's mansion will be taxed to hold all the wedding presents arriving for Florence Trumbull and John Coolidge.

Every day a mail man staggers up to the front door with 25 to 30 parcels.

Several rooms in the big colonial house have been set aside for display of gifts and the bales of excelsior and packing material are the despair of servants.

Gardeners, stonemasons and painters have been busy around the house during the week.

Virtually everything is arranged for the wedding in the Congregational church at 4 P. M. Monday.

Although Mrs. Trumbull regards the wedding as "just a simple little private affair," public interest has necessitated unusual arrangements for giving the news to the public without making the wedding a spectacle.

These are the press arrangements announced today.

Four "still" photographers, two from New York, one from Boston and one from Connecticut, will be allowed inside the police lines outside the church.

Two silent movie cameramen and one sound man will be allowed inside the lines.

All newspapermen must have passes. No reporters will be allowed inside the lines.

A friend of John and a girl friend of the bride will be interviewed by men and women reporters respectively after the ceremony.

Restrictions applying at the church during the wedding ceremony will apply at the house during the reception.

Interesting Report Legion Convention Given by Delegate

The American Legion Auxiliary, Dixon Unit, No. 12, met in regular session Friday afternoon in Legion Hall. The attendance was very good.

Mrs. Lila Wagner, senior vice president, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Louise Withers. Due to department ruling, the new year begins October first, and the unit ladies will make no plans for work until the new unit officers take their chairs for the next regular meeting.

The unit will present to the new high school campus a flag pole and flag, in the near future.

The report of the State Convention of the Legion Auxiliary held at Rock Island, was then given. Mrs. Georgiana Drew was the delegate, and her report was very complete and interesting. While each year the attendance of the Legion ladies at the state convention increases, this year's attendance exceeded every expectation. The report from the house committee Sunday night was 500 Legionnaires and Auxiliary ladies with no accommodations for them.

The people of Davenport, Rock Island and Moline opened their homes to provide for these delegates and visitors.

Sunday morning there was a breakfast at the Arsenal Golf Club for district committee women. Sunday noon, luncheon, Gold Star members at Blackhawk Watch Tower; Sunday evening, reception and dinner at Watch Tower Inn; and a joint public meeting at the First Methodist church at 8 o'clock; Monday evening at 6:30 the banquet and dance at the Rock Island Arsenal.

The banquet was for Auxiliary members only and plates were laid for fifteen hundred. Later, the Legionnaires were admitted for the dance. The hall was beautifully decorated with flags, banners and colored balloons, and everyone enjoyed this until a late hour.

The Monday morning session of the Auxiliary convention was called to order at 9 o'clock at the Augustana Gymnasium. Many distinguished guests were present. The convention opened amid much enthusiasm. Music was furnished by the Boys' Band from the Children's Home at Normal. This band is composed of children of the World War Veterans.

A collection was taken at the close of the concert and two hundred and thirty dollars and some cents, was the sum received, this money to be used to aid in the musical instruction for the World War orphans at the home at Normal.

The members of the Quiney Glee Club, composed of thirty Legionnaires, were then escorted to the platform and gave several selections. A basket of most gorgeous pink dahlias, with greetings and best wishes were presented from Governor Emerson. Greetings from many patriotic orders were brought to the Convention ladies. The membership for the Auxiliary is 5164 more than last year. Sixty thousand dollars has been spent on rehabilitation this year; twenty-five thousand being used for child welfare.

John Hartman, secretary of the National Rehabilitation Committee of the American Legion, in his address to the ladies told them that the peak of disablement of the veterans of the World War would not be reached until 1947, and that there was more work to be done by the auxiliaries than ever before. He asked the ladies to work on the legislative work the Legion is trying to accomplish. A part of this is one thousand more hospital beds at North Chicago Hospital, and five beds to be added to the Edward Hines Hospital.

Hon. Oscar Carlstrom, Attorney General, addressed the convention ladies. He spoke in high praise of the work accomplished by the past year by the Auxiliary Department. He told of being in attendance at the meeting held in Paris, France at the close of the World War, when the first plans were made for an American Legion organization.

The parade Monday afternoon was an inspiring affair, the massed colors of Old Glory, the Post, and Unit banners, the uniforms of the sixty Legion Drum Corps, the bands and the women's drill teams, the box cars of the 40 and 8; the beautiful floats and the funny affairs, taking two hours to pass a standing point, or corner.

Tuesday morning's convention session opened at 8:30 and the real work of the Department began.

The Dixon Unit ladies came home from the convention tired, happy and with a desire to work harder than ever before for the World War Veterans and their dependent ones.

The next meeting of the Dixon Unit will be held Oct. 2nd. The election and installation of the officers will be held at this time.

Early in the week the class members received from Mrs. Mae Perkins this written message:

"The monthly meeting of the Sunshine Class. Never again will be a bore. Patch two blocks like one enclosed."

And bring material for one more. Place—1001 Hennepin Avenue. Time—Thursday Evening, Sept. 19. Hostesses—Mrs. Mae Perkins.

Mrs. Hannah Chronister Mrs. Lucy Ankeny Mrs. Hannah Martenson Mrs. Jennie Wilkey

Diagram and pattern of blocks for quilt were given in the envelope.

After an opening song service with piano accompaniment, the President, Mrs. Jessie Follett, held an important business meeting.

Quilt blocks were exhibited and occasioned much talk and merriment.

Appetizing refreshments were served, which were non-vegetarian, and "different" as some of the ladies remarked, and thirty-four partook of the feast.

All the rooms were brilliantly lighted and decorated with a profusion of garden flowers.

Lee County War Mothers in Meeting

Lee County Chapter, American War Mothers, met in G. A. R. Hall in regular session Friday afternoon.

America was sung. The Flag Salute was given. The Chaplain led in devotions. Minutes of last meeting were read and treasurer's report was given. A new name was read as a member, Mrs. Cora Etheridge. Letters were read in regard to the State Convention at Ottawa, Oct. 23-24, Mrs. Lee Eastman being the delegate with Mrs. Rose Natfizer as the alternate.

Mrs. Bunnell was presented with the War Mother's sash to be worn at the convention at Louisville, Ky., for which city she left today, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. J. W. Watts.

A letter was read from a young man at Alamosa, Colo. A large amount of clothing gathered will be sent him. $10.00 was sent to Geo. Morris at Hines hospital for his work in the Lee Co. Garden. Six Mothers turned in bed bags to be sent to the hospital.

Grave markers will be installed for two mothers who passed on this year.

The penny drill was taken. "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" was sung as the Chaplain dismissed the order.

Enjoyed Pleasant Automobile Trip

Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Maurice McKee, Mr. and Mrs. Will Fitzpatrick, Miss Mary and Will Jr. motored to East Moline and took their sister, Miss Bernadette McKee, for a day's outing.

A picnic dinner was enjoyed at Longview Park—the Villa, a block east was visited where Mrs. Fitzpatrick had the pleasure of meeting all her former teachers at the Visitation Convent.

In the afternoon a tour was made of the Rock Island Arsenal which is situated on a 999 acre island in the middle of the Mississippi river. Here Col. Davenport was cruelly murdered in his shack by robbers. The Iowa city is named for him.

WOC was then visited and seeing B. J. Palmer's Little Bit O' Heaven was a real treat.

Mr. Palmer addressed the group of visitors. On the return home, Mrs. Fitzpatrick's sister, known as Sister Mary Celestine, was visited. She is teaching eighth grade at St. Mary's school at Moline, Ill., having attended summer school at the University of Illinois the past summer. This closed a very delightful day for all participating.

HOME BUREAU MEETING TUESDAY

There will be a Home Bureau meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Hofmann, 507 East Everett street. All will be welcome. Miss Lulu Black, the Home Advisor, will address the ladies on "Rayon."

LOWDEN'S RETURN FROM SUMMER AT CASTLE REST

Oregon, Sept. 21.—The Frank O. Lowden family has returned to Sunnyside Farm after a six weeks' sojourn at Castle Rest, Alexander Bay.

SHEPHERD'S CLASS TO MEET NEXT WEEK

The Shepherd's class of the Grace Evangelical church will meet Thursday in the church parlors.

NEW YORK-PARIS FASHIONS

WHEN the shop windows give over at least half of their display to woolen coats, then you know that fall is just over the horizon in the fashion world at least. At the moment, the big news seems to be that we are really going princess in coats as well as frocks. Of course there will be plenty of models, and chic ones, too, for those of us to whom a princess silhouette in a heavy cloth coat is less than beautiful. There was a hint of it last fall and winter in the models from such houses as Vionnet and Paquin, so we might as well have accepted it completely then. The coat sketched is the semi-sports version of this mode. It is of a loose woven tweed in beige and brown, fur collar and shell buttoned. The buttons are important because you have buttons on a princess coat, there being nothing to wrap around, so to speak. It's about time buttoned coats came back anyway. Life is hard enough to meet without forever having to be clutching at one's coat on windy days. And buttons are always decorative too.

NOT SO FETTERED
Speaking of China, it's sort of a job to our complacent assumption that occidental women are infinitely more of an influence than oriental ones to learn of the bitter letter Madame Sun Yat-Sen, widow of the man known as "father of the Chinese revolution," wrote to his Nationalist party, accusing them of betraying her husband's cause.

And we think of them as meek tight-footed ladies married unpropitiously to men chosen for them, utterly uninterested in their husband's jobs, etc.

Bachelor Dinner Held For John Coolidge

Plainville, Conn., Sept. 21.—(AP)—John Coolidge with a group of intimate friends made his farewell bow as a bachelor last night.

The event took place at the Elm Tree Inn, at Farmington near here, and was a surprise to the son of the former president. He had decided to forego the traditional bachelor dinner, prior to his marriage on Monday to Miss Florence Trumbull.

Eleven of his friends, however, decided otherwise and arranged a six course steak dinner in his honor. The party was marked by an informal atmosphere, all of the guests wearing business suits. The prospective bridegroom was in a jovial mood, laughing and joking with his hosts.

John motored up from New Haven for the dinner. He spent the night at the home of Governor Trumbull.

State police have been assigned to the Trumbull home and the Plainville Congregational church to insure privacy during the rehearsal today.

Guests at the wedding on Monday will attend the reception on the Trumbull lawn after the ceremony.

Miss Trumbull yesterday obtained the marriage license at the office of the town clerk. Both she and Mr. Coolidge had made application for it last Saturday.

PROUD OF HER
We should realize that woman has reached that state of being well-informed when she really knows what she is doing.

We are rather proud of such women as Miss Martha Jane Graber, 30, of Lima, O., who will deny themselves citizenship rather than say they will bear arms for their country.

If all women, and all men, would refuse to so affirm, there might be a simple little way of stopping war right there.

FLAPPER MAMA
While the flapper last cussed and discussed as she once was, still she needs support occasionally. As griet for argument, consider the statement of Dr. S. J. Crumrine of the American Child Health Association, who lauds the flapper mother, declaring that the babies of the original flapper who began causing such to-do ten years ago are the best babies ever raised.

It is hardly just, though, to give all the credit to the flapper mother. She is merely lucky enough to live in an age which is enriched with all that science has found out to date. Perhaps she should be given a hand for daring to be modern enough to use all that is handed her. Her mother didn't.

TRUE TO FORM
The selection of the son of an Episcopal bishop as winner of the recent Thomas A. Edison test to select the brightest boy in the United States must be a bit of a stunner to those who are fond of declaring that even the gutter boy has the chance to be president, and that neither birth nor environment have so much to do with it. It's not a case of "birth or environment," for the right sort of birth generally denotes the right sort of environment, unless the child is stolen from the cradle in infancy or something like that.

It would really have been much more heartening to our American idea if some coal heaver's son had won this honor.

WHERE'LL MA GET IT?
Here's China trying to solve its marriage, divorce and alimony business by the introduction of an "equal rights law" which would automatically make the one found guilty, the one divorced, rather than the one divorcing, pay alimony.

That sounds very just on the surface, but China must be pretty smart if all its women have incomes permitting them to pay alimony. We couldn't do it over here, despite all our prattle about "modern women."

The great bulk of our womanhood still works for its board and could no more pay alimony than hatch a kangaroo.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton
© 1929 by NEA Service Inc.

There are two reasons why children should learn the idea of "must" in helping in the home, besides the ethical one of character training. To begin with, home to children means work.

To end up with, the sooner we get used to the idea the better, that everyone must work in some way or another for his existence. Better for children to get accustomed to it when they are little.

As for his home being his world, it is actually that until he is old enough to enlarge his sphere by school and other outside interests.

Even then, it is around home that he weaves most of his experiences.

There are "musts."

And so, in spite of the companionship and friendship between parents and children, or rather, because of it, there should be the understanding on the part of every child that certain things are expected of him that he "must" do.

First of all, children must learn that part of their duty is to be punctual; that if they have to be dragged out of bed, dragged to meals, spurred on errands and coaxed to get at lessons, they are decidedly being wrenched in the household machinery and causing needless trouble for their busy mothers.

They should learn that they "must" snap out of it and be on time. This is being a help in a negative sort of way, but a necessary one. Even the little ones should learn not to be time wasters.

It is natural for children to lag. We can't expect perfection all at once, but like everything else, practice makes perfect. Some day they will learn.

Orderliness Important
Another of the "musts" they should learn early is order. Hats should be hung up, umbrellas, overcoats and coats put in the closet where such things are kept, belonging put away in bureau drawers, after dressing, soap taken out of the wash bowl after using, tooth brushes hung up, and soiled clothes put into the hamper.

Pets "must" be fed at certain times without reminding.

Music lessons "must" be practiced at a certain hour without threats. I hesitate to put the state seal on this, however. I know so many little martyrs who never, never will learn to play and who hate it. But a mother can tell if there is hope. Then she can use her judgment about this "must" business in practicing.

At any rate, all these "musts" give children a good start in learning responsibility. I don't believe in letting them drift. I shouldn't make these things grim affairs or bugaboos, but I'd show the children I meant business.

Sorbe-Miller
Wedding Event Today

A quiet wedding was solemnized this morning at 10:30 o'clock at the parsonage to the Immanuel Lutheran church, Reverend A. G. Suechting at this time performing the impressive ring ceremony which united in marriage Miss Margaret Sorbe and John W. Miller, both Dixon young people. They were attended by the bride's brother, Gustave Sorbe, as best man and by Miss Cecile Boese, as maid of honor. The bride was charmingly attired in brown silk crepe with trimmings of brown velvet, her hat and wrap and all accessories matching; while Miss Boese wore a pretty gown in dark blue crepe with hat to match. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Miller left by motor on a wedding tour to last two weeks, and they will spend most of the time in St. Paul and Minneapolis.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sorbe and is a popular and attractive young woman, and Mr. Miller who is a Dixon boy, is also very popular in a large circle of friends.

FIGHT FOR MONGOOSES
St. Louis, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The St. Louis Zoological Society last night authorized retention of former Congressman Cleveland A. Newton and Thomas H. Cobbs as attorneys to conduct a court fight for the lives of two mongoses in the Forest Park zoo which have been ordered killed by the customs officials.

It is not permissible under customs law to import mongoses because they are destructive of bird life. However, officials of the Zoological Society believe the animals natives of India and Africa, should be permitted to remain here for exhibits purposes, and have been fighting to spare the animals' lives since they were ordered destroyed last July by a customs agent. The mongoses here are believed to be the only ones in the United States.

"ROOMS FOR TOURISTS."

Every third American, these days, seems to be writing a book. Yet, through some oversight, no one to date has tackled what should be one of the finest settings imaginable.

No one, thus far, has written a novel whose scene is laid in one of those innumerable houses which bear signs on their front lawns reading "Rooms for Tourists."

The tourists' stopping place, in fact, has come into being almost unnoticed—or, at any rate, unsung. It is an entirely new feature in American life; a feature as distinctive and as typical of the present day as the Wayside Inn was typical of a bygone age.

A tale that revolved about one of those places could tell the whole story of modern America.

The tourists' home is a cross between a hotel and the home of a hospitable, but distant, relative. You drive up to it, usually just after dusk, park your car behind the house, go inside and are shown to a bedroom. Generally the room is old-fashioned; the Victorian age seems to linger within the walls of those who accommodate the motorist. And, in the vast majority of cases, it is extremely comfortable and homelike.

What a strange institution it is, when you stop to think about it.

You reach some town you have never seen before and will never see again. You spend the night in the home of people of whose existence you never before dreamed. At breakfast, as like as not, you rub elbows for a brief moment with a scattering of wanderers—an elderly couple from Iowa, a woman and two small children from Mississippi and a pair of young men from Maine—and then, after a little while, you go on your way again, never to encounter any of these people again.

The experience may mean little or nothing to you. But if you are wise, it can mean a great deal.

This tourists' home is a slice of democracy. It is also a cross-section of the human race. You can't stop in one without getting a new glimpse at your native country and at your fellow men.

And the chief thing that will stick in your mind, if you visit very many of these places, will be this: that most people are pretty likeable, pretty admirable, pretty easy to get along with, after all.

Perhaps that doesn't sound like much of a discovery. Yet some people go through their entire lives without making it.

Very, very rarely will the proprietor of a tourist rooming house try to "gyp" you, or show you any discourtesy.

Very, very rarely will any of the other guests leave you with anything but pleasant memories of your encounter with them.

And that sort of thing is worth knowing. It helps, even if only in a small degree, to bolster up your faith and confidence in the human race.

MAKING PROGRESS.

It is not a good thing to be too optimistic; and the obstacles that lie in the pathway that leads toward complete, friendly agreement between the United States and England on naval matters are, admittedly, many. Yet friends of peace have a right to feel encouraged by the most recent developments.

When Ramsay MacDonald announced that the two governments had already reached agreement on 17 of the 20 points at issue, he did not clarify his statement by explaining what the three points are that are still the basis of disagreement. Nevertheless, the mere fact that negotiations are continuing, and are reaching some sort of goal, is a cause for optimism.

It is only within the last few years that an attempt of the kind MacDonald and Hoover are now making would even have been dreamed of. The mental attitude, in an affair of this kind, is all important; and the present attitude, on each side, is one that must be vastly depressing to the jingoes.

A Vienna doctor has found a liquid which can be used for brains. It is reported he has been besieged by queries from football coaches.

They're organizing a United States of Europe. Wonder where the vice president's folk will sit?

King Alfonso says he would be a mechanic in an automobile shop if he weren't king. There isn't much difference between a king and a bandit after all.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"Hurrah! Four ponies." Clowny cried. "There's one for each of us to ride. Come on, let's try and catch them. They may scamper right away. I'll catch mine. Just be sure of that, unless he kicks and knocks me flat. Be careful now, you Tinymites. They are acting rather gay."

The ponies scampered here and there. They felt so good they did not care just where they went. "Twas fine to run out on the open ground. One little fellow kicked real high. It seemed his feet would touch the sky. Then Copy shouted 'Hey, Come here. Where do you think you're bound?'"

The carpenter, the Tinies' friend said, "Say, my lads, you can't depend on crazy wooden ponies. I imagine there's no hope of catching them right now by hand. I'm sure not one of them would stand the safe and the better way would be to use a rope."

So Scouty grabbed a rope, nearby and said, "Just watch me now. I'll try my luck. You'd better stand far back or else you might get hit. The loop in this is big enough to very nicely do its stuff. I'll drop it over one pony's head. I'm sure 'twill fit real snug."

Soon every pony stood real still, cause Scouty lassoed them with skill. The carpenter then shouted "Each one pick the one he likes." The Tinies did and hopped aboard. They sat so queer their kind friend roared. Said he, "Excuse my laughing, but you're funny looking tikes. Now that each one is in his place, we'll try and have a thrilling race. Ride to that big oak tree and back. 'Twill be a heap of fun. The first one back, of course, will win. Now get in line, but don't begin until I give the signal. I will fire my little gun."

(Clowny messes up the race in the next story.)

IRISH HOME RULE RIOTS

On Sept. 21, 1912, riots occurred in Ireland as a result of the controversy about the third Home Rule Bill.

The riots were occasioned by anti-home rule demonstrations in Ulster, where opposition to such a plan was at a white heat.

A measure called the Government of Ireland bill had been introduced providing for an Irish parliament consisting of a senate and house of commons, empowered to make laws for Ireland, but certain classes of legislation were removed from its jurisdiction.

Legislation over which parliament had no control included power regarding peace, war, treaties, army, navy, trade, navigation, coast defense, coinage, stamps, weights, copyright, religion and Freemasonry.

The bill was accepted by all Nationalist Ireland in good faith as a fair measure of self-government, but the Ulstermen were vigorously opposed to the plan.

Sir Edward Carson, the Unionist leader, had a narrow escape from injury during rioting at Londonderry, when a large stone was dropped from the city wall into his open carriage, missing him by a few inches. Nationalists stoned torch bearers and benedictines during an anti-home rule demonstration in Ulster.

After much debate and further rioting the bill was passed and became a law in 1914, but its operation was suspended at the beginning of the World War.

Daily Health Talk

BY HELEN L. MYRICK,
Executive Secretary,
Illinois Society for Mental Hygiene.

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Institute are at 1331 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

Have you "personality?" Do you meet people easily without self-conscious awkwardness? Or are you shy, afraid to talk, clumsy and uncertain of yourself? If you are, what do you do about it? Do you try to cover it up with bravado, a false aggressiveness and cynicism which seems to repel others or do you avoid people as much as possible and withdraw into a world of your own?

Let us examine this thing called "personality" which is the goal of all who wish to be a success in their work and play, in marriage, motherhood, throughout life.

Personality as such is the inner self, one's feelings, thoughts, desires and attitudes. When we say "she has personality" we really mean that she is able to express her inner self in a pleasant way that attracts others. Often this ability to express one's self easily is confused with physical beauty. However when we cast our eyes over our friends and acquaintances, we discover that many pretty to behold have no charm of personality and others who are popular are not in the least beautiful.

How is it done, this personality stuff? Be yourself—the good old slang phrase of the present moment has a lot to do with it. The ability to forget oneself in the thing or the person of the moment is one secret. In other words a real enjoyment of people and incidents, interest in things outside of oneself to the extent of blotting out all thought of self. Are you able to do that? If you can't you should try to cultivate it. There are many ways of doing so.

In the first place, learn to do things well which you already are doing or are interested in. Then experiment with new interests; you may have hidden talents which merely need a chance. Give them a chance, but don't be overwhelmed if you strike a false lead, continue to experiment until you find your line. Then use it freely whatever it is. It may only be interest in something rather than ability to do it.

That brings up another question. You would not try to discuss a show with someone who is sick with a cold would you? But do you consider the other fellow's point of view at all times when he is well? Just talking about things that interest you regardless of others isn't going to add to your popularity. So we might add to the phrase "be yourself" another one, "at the same time think of the other fellow, his ideas and mood of moment." Sympathetic imagination some people call it, not sloppy sentimentality which is often confused with the term sympathy, but simply an ability to adapt your own self expression to those around you.

What about your sense of humor, have you one really, or do you merely make fun of other people's mistakes and misfortunes? Study someone who has "personality," doesn't she have a real sense of humor which she uses to point out the funny side of things in a way that cheers you all up and gets you laughing? Does yours wear through thick and thin? Can you pick out the humorous side of dull situations on your way to work or in the office or factory and brighten up the whole place by showing it? Can you laugh at yourself instead of at other people? That is a saving grace and can easily be cultivated. That takes courage and a sense of real values.

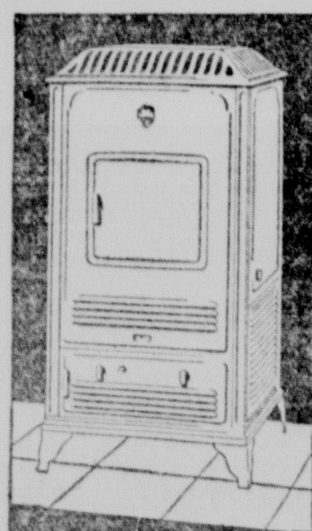

What about these real values? The really well liked person has them, hasn't she? She does not paralyze herself by always thinking that she is inferior or superior to other people. She develops her abilities insofar as possible, tries to discover new ones, recognizes her limitations and accepts herself fairly. Much of our difficulties in expressing our personality lies in trying to be like someone else instead of being ourselves.

Many times we show our dissatisfaction with our failure to come up to an ideal of behavior by being irritable over petty things when in themselves are not especially annoying. All sorts of resentments and disappointments are indirectly expressed this way which prevent us from showing up our good qualities. Besides trying to accept our limitations, how else can we overcome unhappiness over anything? Well, how do you? A good spell of crying sometimes does it, rather to the detriment of one's appearance, but lots of times that isn't possible to indulge in or doesn't relieve one. Religion is a great solace, of course. So is music. Diversion of any kind usually helps one to regain one's poise, either through a good hard game of volley ball, a swimming race or a thrilling show. The thing is to let it

Estate Heatrola is the only Heatrola... AND THAT'S THE ONE WE SELL!

EIGHT years ago the home-heating world was startled by the introduction of the Estate Heatrola. For here was a home-heater that looked like a fine piece of furniture, that sent circulating warmth into every room, yet used no more fuel than a single old fashioned stove. No wonder Heatrola changed the heating habits of a nation!

Of course, Heatrola's success has brought a host of imitators, but you can be sure of getting the original and genuine by coming here. All the new models are on display, including the striking new Estate Heatrola 6-D. There's a size to suit every requirement, and each has the famous Intensi-Fire Air Duct that gives you so much more heat from so much less fuel. Convenient purchase terms, if you wish.

serve to change your mood, not merely to distract you for the moment.

Keep well. So much is written about the importance of good health as a prevention of illness that we get rather bored by it. But the relation of health to personality has not been pointed out so frequently. Headaches, indigestion, fatigue, do affect one's mood a lot. Even though one says nothing about these physical ailments, one doesn't feel up to the mark. Most of these conditions can be avoided by following the ordinary rules of hygiene and diet, and by having a yearly physical examination. You will be surprised how much easier life is by doing so.

This may sound like old stuff to you, just what you do every day; but suppose you stop and think over your contacts with other people at home, at work and with your friends and see whether you really are successful as a person—then try a few of these suggestions. They are of as much importance to your mental health, and social well being as physical hygiene is to your physical health.

BIG TEN COACHES FINDING HOLES IN FOOTBALL LINEUPS

Four of Conference Teams Are Most Formidable Contenders

By BERT DEMBY
United Press Staff Correspondent
Chicago, Sept. 21.—(UP)—Their lighter work at an end Big Ten teams next week will get down to the serious business of preparing for a football season which promises many upsets and at least a four team battle for the championship.

Coaches have devoted the past week to attempts to get a line on their material and they will be ready next week to test out their ideas in hard scrimmages.

As things stand now, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois and Minnesota are the four teams feared by the remainder of the conference. Illinois has several youngsters who have shown well and Frank Lanum and Doug Mills have exhibited real punting ability. Frank Walker, regular halfback, is limping badly from an injured ankle sustained off the field, however, he may be able to get back to work soon. Another promising back is Art Schultz, who comes from a family of good players. The Illinois appears to have a good team coming up with such regulars as Crane Wietz, Gordon, Timm, Mills, Walker, Humbert, Lanum and Peters to build around.

Coach Harry Kipke at Michigan already has started serious scrimmage work. The Wolverine graduation losses, barring Pomeroy, were light. Willie Heston and Roy Hudson have looked good in the early work. Kipke's fire already is beginning to instill confidence into the team.

Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite has started secret practice at Wisconsin. Glenn has fine prospects for a championship and there'll be plenty of conditioning work for his team. The Badgers suffered fairly heavily by graduation losses in the line but several youngsters have shown great promise. The team has fine prospects for a good backfield.

Minnesota is hard at work developing linemen. The loss by graduation of Ukelberg, Gibson and Johnson left a need for linemen but Coach Doc Spears has a good backfield lineup, so good in fact that there is a rumor that he may shift Bronko Nagurski back to his old tackle position. The Gophers have good nucleus of lettermen to build around.

Northwestern and Purdue are the "dark horses." Coach Dick Hanley's hopes were brightened considerably this week when Mickey Erickson did excellent work at the center position and Jack Riley and Ralph Sherberg, two promising linemen, overcame scholastic difficulties.

If Purdue can develop a good line the team is to be feared. Coach Jimmy Pheh has an excellent backfield nucleus in Welch, Harneson and Caraway. Slight is an excellent tackle, and there are several promising forwards. Phelan is faced with the task of getting together a good lineup in a hurry for his team faces Michigan in its second game of the season.

Coach Bert Ingwersen at Iowa is tunting for a punter. Ingwersen has put practically all backfield candidates through kicking work and so far Irving Nelson, whose accurate drop-kicking was responsible for two Iowa victories last year, looks to be the best kicker on the team. Mike Farroh, halfback, suffering with a wrenched shoulder is the first casualty of the season.

Scrimmages between freshmen and varsity candidates already are under way at Indiana. Coach Pat Page's team is an uncertain quantity but several youngsters are showing well and the Indians have a large group of lettermen.

Ohio lost heavily by graduation and the Buckeye outlook does not seem particularly bright. Sam Willaman, former coach at Iowa State, is serving his first year at Ohio and must develop youngsters. He is reported to have some good prospects and has the team working hard.

Coach Alonzo Stagg, at Chicago, must develop a good center and a punter. These two things are his biggest problems but he would seem to have plenty of other worries, the principal one of these being lack of material. Stagg doesn't have many men to work with and his prospects are not bright. In the early practices Captain Pat Kelly has appeared to be the best Maroon kicker and Carroll Marshall appears to be the best prospect for center.

At Notre Dame, an out of the conference school but one which usually exhibits a good football team, prospects are good. Already Coach Knute Rockne has given a definite idea of what his backfield will be. The coach has used Elder, Carideo, Brill and Hulins in the regular positions, and a forward passing game has been stressed. Rockne still is undecided about the players he will use in the line but several veterans, combined with good young prospects, promise to take care of the forward wall problem.

that the best rest is a hard day's work. Joe McCarthy is keeping his regulars at their accustomed posts as the hirings of Cornelius McGillicuddy take their ease upon the bench—or even away from the park altogether.

It's children's day almost every afternoon at Shibe Park now, and the capers some of the juveniles are cutting, it might be inferred that the Mackmen will boast a strong freshman squad in 1930.

Young Eric McNair, widely-heralded shortstop from Memphis by way of Knoxville, made his big league bow yesterday to the accompaniment of three hits in five attempts, and scored the winning run for the Athletics in a ten-inning, 2 to 1 triumph over the Tigers.

Master McNair's antics vindicated, for the moment at least, Connie Mack's payment of $25,000 for his release, but they placed a somewhat lower valuation upon a prize Tiger purchase from Evansville. In the Three Eye League, Whitlow Wyatt, the young Detroit pitcher also was making his debut in the big time, but the zeal of Master McNair spoiled everything for the mid-western recruit.

Connie Mack employed only Simmons from his regular corps. The Milwaukee Pole failed to hit in four attempts and then retired in favor of French. Simmons' average fell to .366, but he retained the league lead over Lew Fonseca, who got two out of four at Boston and climbed to .362.

Wesley Ferrell checked a late Boston rally in the game at the Fenway, and Cleveland won by 4 to 2. The Red Sox outlived the invaders by 13 to 9, but had twelve men stranded. A wild throw by Goose Goslin in the fifth enabled the Browns to shade Washington by 1 to 0. Alvin Crowder winning and Myles Thomas losing. A blast of winter at the downtown offices of the Yankees froze up all the cash registers in the stadium, and Edward G. Barrow hit upon the idea of two games on Sunday as a solution.

The Pirates stopped the Braves by 10 to 3 at Pittsburgh in the only National League game. Lloyd Waner hit a homer with two on, and Lester Bell retaliated for Boston with the bases empty. Jess Petty pitched against Peery and Touchstone, eastern league additions to the Boston roster.

Wet grounds in St. Louis built up a Sabbath double-header for the Cardinals and the Robins. The rest of the league had a scheduled open date.

EASTERN TEAMS IN READINESS FOR A HEAVY SCHEDULE

Gates Are Wide Open In the Eastern Championship Race

BY L. S. CAMERON.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

New York, Sept. 21.—(UP)—It's a wide open season in the eastern football championship race.

This section is well dotted with variety teams which give plenty of promise but there is no one big team, nor two, for that matter. Fans who recall how the army looked a sure winner in 1928 because of the great Cagle have not been keen on nominating a team for this year's crown.

Of the lot there are two that do appear to have chances at least as bright as anybody's. They are New York University and Carnegie Tech. Fortunately these teams will meet late in the season.

None of the "Big Three" looks bigger than another, with all boasting fairly good hopes. Harvard and Princeton continue to be football strangers. Yale, of course, plays both of them.

Army and Navy are also still estranged.

Here's something on the outlook: N. Y. U.—Coach Chick Meehan has the one ball-carrying star in his system demands. He is Beryl Follet of whom something was seen last year, while Ken Strong was resting. All of the Violet games are scheduled for New York City. N. Y. U. plays Penn State, Georgetown, Georgia, Missouri and Carnegie Tech, among others.

Carnegie Tech.—Not so strong this season as last, at least based on past circulation. Howard Harpster, the All-American quarterback of last season, will be missed. Mayne Harry McCurdy, well regarded in Pittsburgh, will be able to take his place.

Army.—The cadets have one of the hardest schedules in the east, although there are some soft spots, too. The Army has a game with Illinois at Urbana. They also play Harvard, Yale and South Dakota, along with some lesser foes before going to Palo Alto to meet Leland Stanford, Dec. 28. Captain Cagle will carry much of the army burden.

Navy.—Followers of the midshipmen see brighter days this year than last. The Navy finished in a blaze of glory last year and has many veterans back. Penn, Princeton, Notre Dame, Georgetown and Dartmouth are carded.

Yale.—Coach Mal Stevens has been working his men to the limit for Yale goes to Athens for the Georgia stadium dedication game, Oct. 12. Albie Booth, Freshman in 1928, has been placed in the varsity backfield. Stevens is trying a double wing-back formation having abandoned the old Yale style.

Princeton.—Wittmer, capable back of 1928, is the key man here. The Tigers have a short but representative schedule, meeting Cornell, Navy, Chicago and Yale, among others. Right now the Nassau lineup is decidedly in doubt. Coach Bill Roper will use the huddle. He abandoned it for a while last year.

Harvard.—The talk is that Harvard is in for a big season. Harvard has some fine veterans; among them are Bill Tichnor at tackle and Ben Tichnor at center. Meets Yale and Dartmouth and other eastern foes of some note. Harvard plays a big ten team in Michigan and a fine southern representative in Florida University.

Dartmouth.—Another chance for Al Marsters. He was a great back in 1927, was hurt and out in 1928.

Marsters is in fine shape now and may be an able lieutenant for Coach

Harvey's successor, Jackson Cannell.

Georgetown—Coach Lou Little has a pony backfield which is said to be as fast as it is light. The Hilltoppers will point for Navy and N. Y. U. with West Virginia, St. Louis and Detroit as other games of note.

Pennsylvania—The present problem at Penn is to synchronize a light backfield and a heavy line.

Pittsburgh—The Panthers have a fair showing of veteran material, headed by Josh Williams and Tom Parkinson.

Looking Over The Football Material Of Big Ten Today

Chicago, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Their first football examination of the season, today faced most of the candidates for big ten teams. With five days of drill accomplished coaches planned on formal scrimmage sessions today to close the first week of practice and see what results have been produced.

Minnesota, Iowa and Chicago suffered most from injuries during the week, the Gophers losing Harold Bayard, a veteran half-back, Tom Moyland, a husky line candidate and Paul Kirk, another half-back. None of the injuries were serious, but will keep the men out of action for a week or more. Chicago lost Buck Weaver, a huge guard, while Farroh and Thomas, of Iowa, were incapacitated by painful hurts.

All but Chicago and Northwestern were down for scrimmage games today with Freshmen or reserve teams.

FIGHT'S LAST NIGHT

By the Associated Press

Chicago—Jerry Tuffy, Griffith, Sioux City, Ia., stopped George Cook, Australia. (4). Al Fay, Pittsburgh, pointed Al Friedman, Boston. (10). Salvatore, Ruggirio, Italy, knocked out Pete Wistort Chicago. (10). Les Kennedy, Los Angeles, knocked out Tim Deberry, St. Paul. (6). Boston — Andy Martin, Boston, outpointed Bushy Graham, Utica, N. Y. (10).

New Orleans — Tony Canzoneri, New Orleans, outpointed Eddie Kid Wolfe, Memphis, Tenn. (10).

Cedar Rapids, Ia.—Joe Rivers, Cedar Rapids, knocked out Paul Anthony, Chicago. (2).

DIVORCES EX-CHAMP
Reno, Nev., Sept. 21.—(UP)—On a complaint charging extreme cruelty, Mrs. Dorothy M. Wright has been granted a divorce from Beals C. Wright, former United States tennis champion, and custody of their two children. She will receive $4,500 annually for support of herself and the children.

BATTING CHAMPS HAVE ONLY TWO WEEKS TO RACE

O'Doul Looks Like A Safe Winner over Herman In National

New York, Sept. 21.—(AP)—With only two weeks of the season remaining, Frank O'Doul of Philadelphia and Babe Herman of Brooklyn remain in a mad scramble for the National League batting championship, but since the teams are not solidly scheduled in the final fortnight, O'Doul's advantage is really greater than his margin of 392 to 386 would indicate. Herman has very few games in which to make up the deficit.

Other leading regular batsmen in averages issued today and including games of last Wednesday are: Terrry, New York, 376; Hornsby, Chicago, 373; Traynor, Pittsburgh, 366; Stephenson, Chicago, 359; L. Waner, Pittsburgh, 358; Cuyler, Chicago, 357; Klein, Philadelphia, 354; and Hendrick, Brooklyn, 349.

O'Doul not only leads the individual batters, but also holds the top in total hits with 227. Hornsby leads in runs scored with 146, a new modern league record, displacing Cuyler's mark of 144 made in 1925. Frederick of Brooklyn sets the pace with 50 doubles a tie with the modern league mark made last year by Paul Waner. Lloyd Waner lead his field with nineteen triples, but the home run race is a triple tie among Hack Wilson of Chicago, Melvin Ott of New York and Chuck Klein of Philadelphia, each of whom has 39 circuit blows to his credit.

Wilson leads the league with 149 runs batted in and Cuyler with 39 stolen bases.

Guy Bush suffered his fifth defeat on Tuesday, but still tops the pitchers with a record of eighteen wins and five lost for a percentage of 78.3. His team-mate, Charlie Root, is close behind with seventeen victories and five defeats for 77.3, followed by Burleigh Grimes of Pittsburgh with seventeen and six for 73.9. Carl Mays of New York is the nominal leader with seven games won and two lost for a mark of 77.8, but has pitched only one complete game.

Philadelphia, Chicago and Pittsburgh are almost tied for the team batting lead, all above .300. The Phillies have a shade with .306. The Cubs are one point lower with a margin of a point over the Pirates. New York and Chicago are tied for the top in team fielding at .975, one point above the third-place Reds.

SIMMONS GOING STRONG

Chicago, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Maintaining a pace that Jimmy Foxx and Lew Fonseca have found too swift, Al Simmons of Philadelphia's American League campaign, has hampered his way to the top of the junior circuit batting heap. Figures which include Wednesday's games today gave the big police outfielder an average of .369, an improvement of three points over last week. Simmons' partner, Jimmy Foxx, who has paced the race most of the season, continued to slip, and lost eight points to drop into a tie for second place with Fonseca of the Indians, at .362. Other regulars in the first 10 were: Manush, St. Louis, .359; Lazzeri, New York, .354; Combs, New York, .351; Fothergill, Detroit, .348; Alexander, Detroit, .344; Ruth, New York, .344; Heilmann, Detroit, .344.

Along with the leading batsmen Simmons was tied with Babe Ruth for runs batted in honors, each having propelled 144 mates over the plate. The home run title no longer was a contest with Ruth, an even dozen circuit smashes ahead of his nearest rival and teammate, Lou Gehrig. He exploded two homers during the week for a total of 46.

Charlie Gehringer of Detroit, clinging to his brace of leaderships, He stole three bases for a total of 26.

If the big colleges, California and Stanford, fail to furnish enough excitement around the San Francisco area, there is the Olympic Club, one of the foremost athletic organizations in the country to enliven the situation in football, track and other sports.

Canzoneri Takes On Mack Of Denver Soon

Chicago, Sept. 21.—(AP)—Tony Canzoneri, former world featherweight champion, will appear in Chicago Stadium for the first time since his unsuccessful attempt on Sammy Mandel's light-weight title, September 27, in a 10-round battle with Eddie Mack of Denver.

Mack has scored impressive victories in his western engagements defeating Tod Morgan, Goldie Hess, Dock Snell and Al Corbett. They will meet at 130 pounds.

The main bout will be backed by a 10-rounder between Benny Bass of Philadelphia, and Johnny Datto, Filipino 126-pounder. Jackie Bradie of Syracuse, will fight with Roxe Allen, Camden, N. J., Middleweight, in an eight-round engagement, and Soldier Dombrowski, Detroit, will tackle Al Greenfield of Chicago, in a second eight-round affair.

WEDS FORMER CHAMP

Paris, Sept. 21.—(UP)—The newspaper Le Matin today announced the engagement of Rene LaCoste, French tennis ace, to Miss Simone Thion. Dr. La Chume, former woman golf champion of France and Great Britain, often referred to as the "Lenglen of golf."

By all means provide yourself with one of the Dixon Telegraph's Accident Insurance Policies. You cannot afford to go unprotected. $125 will pay for a $1,000 policy good for one year.

paper. It is full of real interesting reading.

New Firm.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shoemaker have rented the G. S. Ives confectionery emporium and will conduct the same. Roy has been employed by Mr. Ives for sometime and knows the ins and outs of the business. He will be assisted by his wife, Mrs. Shoemaker, and we predict for them a very successful business. They will serve light lunches, hot sandwiches of all kinds, in connection with the ice cream. You will always find Roy and Evelyn accommodating and will do all they can to please you and serve you right.

Elsie Whitsell Marries.

Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock in the Methodist parsonage at Dubuque, Iowa, occurred the marriage of Miss Elsie Whitsell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Whitsell, to Irvington, Ill., to Ed. LaGesse.

Miss Ada Heibenthal of Ashton, as maid of honor was attired in honey dew georgette with trimmings of silver. George Weber of Compton, acted as best man. The bride wore a gown of white satin trimmed in silver and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses and baby wreath. The bridegroom wore a dark suit.

A wedding breakfast was enjoyed after the ceremony at the Canfield hotel in Dubuque with covers for only the intimate friends of the bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. LaGesse left immediately on a motor trip to Minnesota and South Dakota. The bride's traveling costume was of French blue velvet with hat and shoes to match.

Mr. LaGesse has been employed by the Schafer & Olson Construction Co. at Dixon for the past three years, being recently transferred to Dubuque, where the happy couple will make their future home.

The bride is well-known in this community, having lived several years in the home of Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Lahman, and is a sister of Mrs. Bailey Breeze. The bride has a host of friends here who will extend best wishes to her and her husband.

Ray Eckhart Marries.

Raymond Eckhart of this place and Miss Lena M. Winger of Dixon, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon in the parsonage of the Lutheran church at Ashton, Rev. Bailey, officiating.

The young couple were attended by Miss Helen Winger, sister of the bride, and Oscar Johnson, both of Dixon. The bride wore a brown ensemble suit and hat to match, with a beautiful corsage of sweetheart roses and sweet peas. The groom wore a dark blue suit.

The groom is a splendid young man, a successful farmer and is highly esteemed by a large circle of friends. The bride is a delightful young woman and has been employed as stenographer in Joe Miller's garage in Dixon, in which city she has made many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Eckhart left after the ceremony for a short honeymoon trip to Chicago. They returned home yesterday and will at once go to housekeeping on his farm south of this place.

Miss Ada Spratt Marries.

Miss Ada Spratt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Spratt of Baraboo, Wis., was married to Lester Mahan, of Racine, Wis., on Sept. 7th. At present the couple will reside with the bride's parents, but in the spring will move to Racine. The Spratt family are former residents of this community, the bride is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Spratt of this place, and has many friends here who will extend best wishes to her and her husband.

John Buck Marries

Monday morning, thirty-five miles from Waterloo, Iowa, a wedding occurred of interest to the readers of this column.

In the "Little Brown Church", made famous by the religious song "The Church in the Wildwood," John S. Buck and Miss Zeida Hoffman were married, and are enjoying their honeymoon in the lake region.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Buck of this place. He attended the local high school, graduating from the same, later attending college at Mt. Morris. His jolly nature made many friends, all of whom liked him. He is employed in Mt. Morris as a city mail carrier.

Mrs. Buck formerly resided in Libertyville, Iowa, but has been teaching school in Oregon for several years. Mr. and Mrs. Buck will reside in Mt. Morris where the best wishes of many friends will be with them.

Pocketbook Stolen

Mrs. Jesse Dysart and daughter, Mrs. Roy Wendell were walking to the Dysart home Saturday night. They were followed by two young men, but really thought nothing of it. When they reached the Haenisch corner, one of the lads snatched the pocketbook which Mrs. Wendell carried, and both boys then ran westward. Mrs. Wendell chased them to the Brethren church corner. Here an old Ford awaited them into which the climbed and drove away. Only a small amount of cash and a few articles of no great value were lost with the pocketbook. There was an old Ford car seen on Main street early in the evening in which were several lads from a nearby town and some are of the opinion that they were the same ones who took the pocket book. It is really to be hoped that they may be found out and taken care of.

Grand Opening a Success

The grand opening at Conlon's grocery store Saturday was a most decided success. It is estimated that close to a thousand people visited the store during the day, and evening and enjoyed the royal reception given them by the clerks. Over three hundred roses were given out. Mrs. Ella Miller having charge of that department and each lady visiting the store had a lovely rose. Hannah Conlon was kept busy giving each child a candy bar, and there surely were lots of kiddies in to get the candy. The men all received a cigar. A representative was present from the Non-Such Coffee Company who served hot coffee to all during the day, and really, the coffee was well named for we never drank "none such" coffee. A representative was present from the Iken bakeries in Clinton and all were served with a cookie or cracker with their cup of coffee. Mr. and Mrs. Conlon were assisted by Miss Maude Conlon, Mrs. Clyde Speck, Mrs. Bittendorf, Mrs. June Conlon and J. H. Lincoln. At 2 o'clock the store was packed with people waiting for a piece of the cake which Maxson, the baker at Rochelle had made. A perfectly beautiful three-layer cake, of immense size was cut and all enjoyed a piece of it. Those who drew the baskets of groceries were: Mrs. Frank Miller, Mrs. Roy Wendell, Miss Ethel Sheap, Miss Luella Humphrey and Mrs. Bosley. Mrs. L. H. Brewer won 3 pounds of Non-Such coffee, while Cover and John Meyers each drew a box of Iken's crackers. The Conlons certainly have a beautiful store, and are to be congratulated upon the splendid success of their grand opening.

Art Work at School
The art work you have seen exhibited in some of the store windows are just a few of the cards that were prize winners at the recent Lee county fair. This art work was made in the Franklin Grove public school under the direction of Miss Oma P. Mentzer and took prizes amounting to $66. Franklin Grove is in division A, therefore it competed with Dixon, Amboy, Ashton and PawPaw. The children showed great interest in their work last year and the art department will try to benefit this year by the income of last year.

The primary work, directed by Miss Catherine Emmert, took one blue ribbon and three red ones. The intermediate room had four blue and three red ribbons. The grammar room received four blue and four red ribbons. The two rooms received a blue ribbon and a red one on two groups of twenty articles of merit.

Miss Mentzer also directed a high school class of four pupils after school. Their work was represented in two sets, the pastello work taking first and the water color second. It was stated by County Superintendent L. W. Miller that two pictures in the pastello group surpassed anything Dixon or Amboy produced. The work of the pupils consisted of construction work, crayola, charcoal, pastello, pencil and water color. It is always a source of real pride that we mention the good work done in our school.

DR. ECKENER

BY HUGH ALLEN

Copyright, 1929, NEA Service, Inc.

The First Authorized Story of the Life of the Commander of the Zeppelins.

Synopsis of Pivotal Chapters

Dr. Hugo Eckener, educated as a scientist and philosopher, was one of the leading critics of Count Zeppelin in the early days when Zeppelin was first endeavoring to prove his theory of the rigid balloon as a successful means of navigation of the air. While Zeppelin was devoting his time to dirigible construction Dr. Eckener was contributing articles to the Frankfurter Zeitung, many of which pronounced Zeppelin's theories impracticable. He referred to them as the "air castles of an air count." But in 1906, after the wrecking of Zeppelin's third dirigible, the student and the sky-dreamer met.

CHAPTER IV

"On a spring morning of the year 1906, as I was working in the garden of my house in Friedrichshafen, my cook came running towards me and said: 'Count Zeppelin is here and wants to talk to you!' She was quite excited, for Count Zeppelin was already at that time a well known personality, perhaps not so much famous as considered an original for he was a cavalry general who had got the idea into his head that he wanted to fly, and had already experienced many disappointments."

Thus begins the story of what proved to be a momentous meeting between Dr. Eckener and Count Zeppelin, as it was dictated by Dr. Eckener when he was in New York recently at the close of his round-the-world flight. It was the first meeting between the student with the call of the sea in his blood and the dreamer who would ride the clouds.

Dr. Eckener was then more than 40 years old, and had devoted his recent years entirely to the study of economics and writing. His had been the secluded life of the student, Zeppelin's, the active life of an army officer. Zeppelin was now the struggling inventor, Eckener the critic. One was silvery-haired and aging, the other in the full vigor of life.

It was a clear spring morning. The waters of Constance, the lake which was to be made famous by these two men, glistened a clear blue in the early sunlight. But, to return to Dr. Eckener's dictated description of what was said and done: "I had the cook to bring the Count to the house. I quickly made myself a little tidy and went into the room where I found the Count waiting. He arose and without further preliminaries showed me a page of a newspaper and asked: 'Did you write this?'

"It was an article in the Frankfurter Zeitung. I answered in the affirmative, for I had, indeed, made a report in that paper with regard to the latest disaster of Count Zeppelin's airship, the stranding of the same in the Allgau, in a very objective, and for the person of the Count, a very friendly way."

"The Count continued: 'I thank you for what you say about me personally in this article. I am glad to have met you at last, since we have been trying to find out for a long time who might be the author of the reports about my flights in the Frankfurter Zeitung that are signed 'Dr. E.' Your reports are friendly and prove of technical knowledge, but they contain some erroneous conceptions, and I have come to give you some information in this respect."

"We discussed a few questions and the Count said on leaving: 'Do you play chess? If so, I would like to invite you to a game one day when I am in Friedrichshafen; then we can best talk over my affairs.'"

"I answered in the affirmative, and, really, a few days later a groom from the hotel came to me inviting me, in the name of the Count, to supper and a following game of chess. This was repeated quite often in the course of the next few weeks and we became good friends. I became more and more interested in the plans of Count Zeppelin."

"Two or three months later I happened to meet Count Zeppelin in the early evening on the street in Friedrichshafen. He greeted me, and soon I noticed that he was in a depressed state of mind. He then told me that he was in great difficulty, and did not know any way out."

"As a result of the revolution in Russia, where the Countess possessed vast estates, he had lost most of his fortune. He did not know how he would be able to gather enough money for the building of a new airship, as nobody had confidence in his idea, and he was considered irrational to waste the rest of his fortune for such a folly. All official institutions and the public were against him."

"I tried to comfort him, conscious of the meaninglessness of my phrases. But, at last I said to him: 'Excellency, I will try to help you at least in one respect, as well as I can, namely in the effort to win public opinion for your cause. I believe the Frankfurter Zeitung, where I have good connections, will be of some significance to your work.'"

"The Count thanked me, but I felt very well that he did not derive any great hopes from the results this support by the press would bring about. And this showed his whole attitude at the time toward the importance of public opinion. Later on he changed his views on this subject."

"Thus I became, first of all, the journalistic helper of Count Zeppelin. I report this incident, which is for me one of highly historic meaning, rather in detail because in many quarters the opinion prevails that I was a journalist by profession, and thereby came to the work of Count Zeppelin."

And so was established a friendship to be followed by business association which was destined to bring to realization the dreams of Count Zeppelin, transform the student of the north into a man of action, and lift him from his library into the clouds, there to conquer the winds, and lay the foundation for a new vessel of transportation which eventually would circle the globe.

(To Be Continued)

BLAME ROCKFORD DRIVER. Rockford, Ill., Sept. 20.—(UP)—Recommendations that Loren V. Hoard, of Rockford, be held on charges of manslaughter were made last night by a coroner's jury which investigated the death of Miss Anna Meyer, 19, in an automobile accident on the Grant Highway, Aug. 31.

Hoard who was driving a car which collided with one driven by Tom Meyer, brother of the dead girl, admitted that earlier in the evening he "had three drinks of alcohol and orange juice," at a friend's home. Enroute home, his machine crashed into Meyer's car killing Miss Meyer who was returning home with her brother from a dance in Rockford. The Meyers reside in Cherry Valley.

TRY RECKLESS DRIVER. Springfield, Ill., Sept. 20.—(UP)—Charged with operating an automobile which ran down and killed Harry Gregory, 22, early this month, Mrs. William Oswald was to be arraigned here today on a charge of manslaughter. Mrs. Oswald was named in an indictment returned by the grand jury yesterday. A coroner's jury previously had declared the accident was due to careless driving on the part of Mrs. Oswald.

At the end of the dinner, Helen suggested a paddle on the lake.

HELEN PAGE feels unhappy when her classmates accuse her of being in love with her handsome guardian, LEONARD BRENT. But he represents all that she knows of home and family and she adores him blindly.

Brent changes all his plans for Helen's future after a chance meeting with a dying beggar, CHARLES OWENS NELLIN, who tells a strange story which Brent is able to corroborate to some extent by a visit to Yonkers.

On graduating, Helen reminds her guardian of his promise to reveal her parentage and is amazed when he informs her that she is the heiress of a millionaire, CYRIL K. CUNNINGHAM, and that he promised her parents to take her to her grandfather when she was 18. They go to Yonkers and Brent introduces her to Cunningham as his granddaughter.

He offers as proof the locket containing a picture of EVANGELINE CUNNINGHAM which he had taken from the dying Nellin. Helen remains at Bramblewood while the lawyer investigates the story. Eager to win her favor, Cunningham presents her with a beautiful car which she drives everywhere. One day she accidentally strikes a young girl, EVA ENNIS, who has to be treated at the hospital. Although unstrung, Helen goes to the girl's home and brings her mother and brother ROBERT to see her. Bob speaks bitterly of the rich who wreck lives by careless driving.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XVII
"Will you permit me to drive home with you, Miss Brent?" Bob asked. His tone was cold enough to bring a sharp refusal to Helen's lips, but his next words checked its utterance.

"I want to tell you about Eva," he said.

Helen hesitated, and Mrs. Ennis further delayed her reply by saying good night. She must, she explained, see to her supper. Helen watched her hurry up to the front door and disappear within the house before she turned to Bob, who had stood quietly waiting for her answer.

"Is there anything you think I should know about your sister?" she asked.

"Yes," Helen moved over. "Will you drive?"

"Bramblewood," Helen directed. "Drive where it is?"

"I've lived in Yonkers all my life," Bob told her, smiling at her question.

"I'm staying there," Helen said. Bob wondered in what capacity. Surely, he thought, not as a guest of old Cyril Cunningham's. But he said nothing of his conjectures and presently Helen asked him about Eva.

Bob's answer was indirect. "You said you were through with reckless driving," he remarked. "Did you mean that?"

"I would like to believe it," Bob said, "because . . . well, if you had injured Eva in any way that might have ruined her career it would have been a crime. She has a great talent—we hope she will be famous some day."

"I'd never have forgiven myself if she'd been permanently injured," Helen told him.

"I know it," he answered with a degree of sincerity that was puzzling to Helen.

"I thought of that," he went on hurriedly; "what a devil of a cross you'd always bear. And so I wanted to make you see that other people—people you probably know but little about—have hopes and dreams that mean as much to them as your own do to you. Suppose you had learned too late that you had crashed someone's world in it need of. And suppose you had smashed yourself up?"

Helen laughed with a touch of bitterness. "I'm afraid," she said, "that my importance in the world is of small matter. But I'm glad to know about your sister. I'd feel as bad over hurting anyone, but in the case of a girl with a rare talent, I would have a greater responsibility, I'm glad you told me."

She wished that he had told her more—why he suddenly believed that she owned a heart, for one thing.

Bob, too, was thinking of the quick change in his opinion of her that had come over him in a moment. He tried to tell himself that it was something that had been in her expression as she said good night to his mother. "A yearning that no hard-boiled girl could feel," he put it.

"Won't you come in and meet Mr. Cunningham?" Helen invited when Bob drove up under the portecochere.

"I'd like to very much," he agreed readily. "I've seen him many times at a distance."

"He's quite nice," Helen said, thinking of her grandfather's reputation and wondering if this young man had heard of it.

She was greatly relieved when Mr. Cunningham greeted him with more than ordinary cordiality. Apparently, she thought, there was to be no repetition of the treatment that had been accorded to her mother.

After the introduction and a few words about the accident, Mr. Cunningham asked Helen if she had dined. She looked at Bob and both smiled. It seemed they had quite forgotten dinner.

"You will stay?" she appealed to him. He nodded in assent before realizing that he had done so. He smiled then over the idea of following up that nod with a regret.

"Will you go down and see about it, my dear?" Mr. Cunningham requested of Helen. "I'd like to talk with Mr. Ennis."

Helen left rather gaily. At least she wasn't going to be faced with a dull evening on this occasion.

SHE found the butler in the dining room, arranging her place. "There will be two, Ashe," she said.

CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN

Cor. 3rd and Madison
B. C. Whitmore, pastor.
The days and weeks keep moving on, do they not? "Time and tide wait for no man." Well, time always did move on just so. And some day, some hour, some minute was the last for all peoples alike in ages past, kings and peasants, priests and people, prophets and pupils, rich and poor, saints and sinners—all the same so far as physical time is concerned. But what a difference in respect to the future state! And the difference is made by our disposition of time on this side of the time border-line.

Services next Sunday as usual—Bible School at ten o'clock, and the worship hour at eleven. The sermon subject will be "Christian Experience." The sermon will be preceded by a story for the children entitled, "Zig-Zag Towser."

The evening service will begin at seven. Th sermon at seven-forty-five. Everyone cordially invited.

Monday evening next will be the members quarterly business meeting at which time all officers for the coming year will be elected. Every member should be present.

IMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH

The Little White Church on the Hill
Cor. Highland and Sixth
A. G. Suechting, pastor.

17th Sunday after Trinity.
Sunday School at 9:30 A. M. Lesson: Jacob's Return and Reconciliation with Esau, Gen. 32:33. Children, help us keep the attendance above the 100 mark. Be on time next Sunday.

Divine worship at 10:30 A. M., conducted in the English language. The pastor is going to preach a series of sermons taking the text from that portion of Holy Scriptures which refers to the new windows.

The first sermon will be based on Matthew's Gospel, chapter 14, verses 22 to 33. The text refers to Christ walking on the sea and saving Peter. The new church window with this text as its subject is the middle window on the south side of the church and is in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Yost.

THE FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Rev. A. Turley Stephenson, Minister.
The Church School convenes in all departments at nine forty-five. Some of the teachers have not yet reported since the summer vacation. It is hoped that everyone will be in his or her place next Sunday morning. The cooperation of both teacher and pupil is now expected.

The regular morning hour of worship at ten forty-five. The subject of the pastor's sermon next Sunday morning will be "The Value of a Soul." The special music will be furnished by the choir who will sing two anthem numbers.

The pastor has begun a study of some of the outstanding Psalms at seven-thirty. The First Psalm will be the subject for next Sunday evening. The special music at this service will be an alto solo sung by Mrs. A. D. George.

ABE MARTIN

Some lawyers wear the same suit o' cloths four years, an' lots o' doctors fall behind an' feel that they're not gittin' anywhere, but of all the up-hill jobs these days bein' a preacher must be the most discouragin'. I'm allus disappointed in a husband some wife is continual-ly quotin'.

vice will be an alto solo sung by Mrs. A. D. George.

The election of a lay delegate to represent our church at the annual meeting of The Laymen's Association, which convenes on Friday, October 4, during the annual session of the Rock River Conference, will take place at the church next Sunday evening. Every member over twenty one years of age is entitled to vote.

There will be a meeting of section one of the Ladies' Aid Society at the home of Mrs. Lawson Booth, 215 Hennepin Ave., next Wednesday afternoon at two-thirty.

There will be a general meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society on Friday afternoon of next week at the church at two-thirty. This is first monthly business meeting of the fall and the president urges the attendance of a large number of the women.

The closing of the current year is at hand and the Finance Committee would greatly appreciate the cooperation of every member of the church in this regard.

They plan to build a new building beside the present garage, and when it is completed they will move all stock and equipment into it. The Edwards Bros. need no introduction to the people of this community as business men as they have been in the garage business here for several years. Mr. Hillison has not decided just what he will do in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. William Foster of Dixon were here Sunday visiting Mrs. Foster's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Frey.

Many people were obliged to go around by Nachusa to get to Dixon after rain Monday, the detour being so muddy they couldn't get through.

Mary North was here from Chicago Sunday visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee North.

Mary Underwood, who is teaching in the high school at Tiskilwa will spend the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Underwood.

Many from here were in attendance at the funeral of Father Foley which was held in Dixon Thursday morning.

Joe Grennan, who has served as car salesman at the Gord garage here has accepted a like position with George Netz & Co. of Dixon and expects to move his family there in the near future.

Ed. Wheatland was in Chicago on business Tuesday.

The faculty of the high school had a Get-together meeting and scramble supper at Lowell Park Wednesday evening.

A large black tri-motored airplane passed over here Monday morning about 8:30 barely missing the tops of the higher buildings. He was evidently travelling low to keep out of the fog. The name Morris, Minn., could be seen plainly on the side of the plane.

The north-bound passenger was delayed here for a short time Wednesday morning while a slight adjustment was being made on the engine.

Frank Kelly filled his silo Friday. Mrs. Myerly of Rockford visited with friends and relatives here Thursday. Mrs. Myerly formerly lived in this vicinity.

Mrs. Otto Sherbert returned Thursday night from Chicago where she has been visiting friends for the past few days.

Harrett O'Malley and Dorothy Healy are going to Dixon where they enter training at the Dixon public hospital.

Fred Binder and Frank R. Dempsey spent Thursday evening in DeKalb.

Plan New Buildings For Mooseheart Boys

Mooseheart, Ill., Sept. 20—(AP)—A new church, school, and village for the boy wards of Mooseheart, national home of the Loyal Order of Moose, will be constructed immediately. Secretary of Labor John J. Davis, who is chairman of the board of Governors of the order, has awarded the school and church, the latter to be known as the House of God, will cost $800,000 and $250,000, respectively, and the boy's village, a group of cottages, will cost $500,000. In the village, a small group of boys will live in each cottage conducting their own affairs on model governmental lines.

You can't afford to be without the Dixon Telegraph's Accident Insurance Policy.

We've got the Band-box for you to step out of.

STEP OUT IS RIGHT! That's exactly what you feel like doing when your clothes are soiled and span and good to look at! No doubt about it—when you know you're "right," it does buck you up a lot.

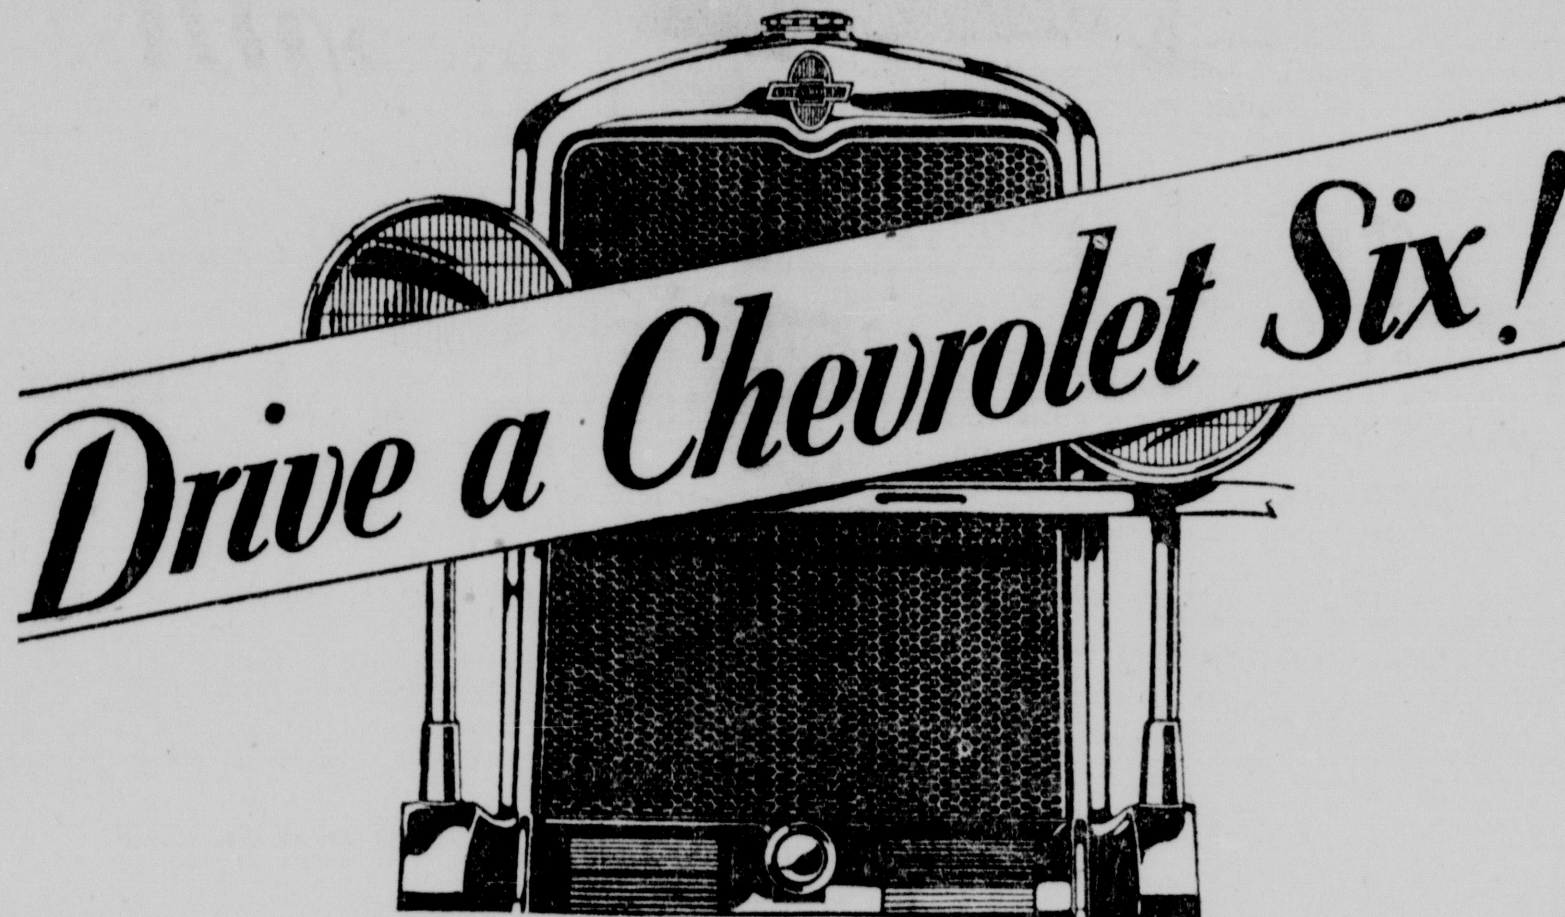

That Top Coat and Overcoat wants a Dry Cleaning right now. It will make you look young and frisky.

—so Delightful to Drive!

The Chevrolet Six delivers its power with that smooth, even, velvety flow which characterizes the truly fine automobile! At every speed, you travel without the slightest annoyance from vibration or rumble. Equally delightful are the comfort and handling ease. Four long semi-elliptic shock absorber springs, set parallel to the frame, provide the road balance found in the finest cars. The steering gear is equipped throughout with friction-free ball bearings. And the big non-locking 4-wheel brakes are quiet, positive and unusually easy to apply. Only a demonstration can reveal how delightful it is to drive this amazing car!

—so Durable and Dependable!

In order to appreciate the value of the new Chevrolet, it is necessary to remember what a really fine Six it is. Its design represents more than four years' development and testing. Materials are carefully selected from the finest available sources of supply. Highly skilled workmen perform every manufacturing operation. And inspection is rigorous and continuous, from raw material to finished product. The result is quality so high that you can confidently look forward to thousands upon thousands of care-free, dependable miles!

—so Economical to Own!

Many people still do not appreciate how little it costs to own a Chevrolet Six. The Chevrolet Coach, for instance, with its beautiful Body by Fisher, is priced at $595, f. o. b. factory, Flint, Michigan—with only the most reasonable charges for handling and financing. You can actually secure a Chevrolet Six for practically the same down payment and low monthly charges you would expect to pay for any low-priced car. In addition, the Chevrolet Six delivers better than 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline with unusually low oil consumption! And Authorized Chevrolet Service is available everywhere on a low flat-rate basis, with extremely low-priced replacement parts. Come in to-day for a demonstration.
